BUSTED! C19 Jab Trains Body to Destroy Itself

Dr. Rima's Spike Protein eBook

Tinkering with genetics and the immune system is a great idea, IF you know everything about both of those, or if you want bad outcomes.

And that's precisely where I believe we are now with the gastly gene jabs offered for COVID-19 "dangers"

There are serious dangers associated with COVID-19 but they are all in the needles that introduce the various jabs into your body.

At the bottom of this article [1] is a link to a scientific study that says, very simply:

The Spike Protein from the SARS COV2 virus penetrates cells and that and at least two of the antibodies that your body produces in response to that protein cause disease, damage and death in pregnant women, fetuses, non pregnant people and women who have recently given birth.

And those are just the short term effects.

The long term ones are aiuto-immune disorders and cataclysmic illness leading to death.

And let me remind you that people who have taken either the mRNA or the DNA jabs are now Spike Protein factories, producing an unlimited amount of this unnatural bioweapon protein agglomeration for at least the life of the jabbed person.

Your body, once jabbed or contaminated, may very well continue to produce that protein and the antibodies to it until you die.

We know that the alleged 'diagnosis' of this 'disease' is worthless. We know that the alleged agent, SARS CVOV-2, has never been identified by any lab which publishes its result or by either CDC or FDA.

We know that the alleged 'surge' we are seeing is directly proportional to the number of people who have accepted the gene therapies misnamed as "Vaccines",

Years ago, I read a New York Times article glowingly singing the praises of a new class of so-called "vaccines" which would work by directly impacting either the DNA of the cells or their mRNA.

At the time, my response, in writing, was that it was horrifyingly bad idea since both genetics and immunology are baby step sciences toddling along with premitive and very partial information.

That suggested to me that tinkering directly with the immune and genetic components of humanity was an act of such profound hubris that disaster was the only possible result.

At the time, although I was right about the implications of the technology, I was far, far too naïve in my assessment. I assumed, mistakenly, as it turns out, that the purpose of these novel, next generation "vaccines" would be to actually prevent, mitigate, cure or diagnose, perhaps even treat, illnesses and diseases.

I must admit that while it was abundantly clear to me that genocide was planned for the bulk of the human race, I did not connect those dots. I did not foresee that these wildly dangerous and literally dehumanizing shots would be the kill shot that the genocidalists have been looking for, for decades or longer.

So please forgive my naïvete, conditioned as we all were by the cultural delusion that most doctors and most researchers, most program administrators and most politicians are actually decent people who would not subscribe to such a consummate evil.

It would appear that I was wrong on that score, too, since it is beyond my imagination to conjure up a scenario in which the captains of industry, the leaders of finance, the medical power people and the military geniuses around the world would not see what such a vaccination program would do. Seeing it, I incorrectly thought, they would stop it.

Well, to be fair, the Presidents of Tanzania, Haiti and a few other places did just that, until they were assassinated, that is.

And the rest of those in places of power have either joyfully plunged ahead with this planned destruction or done so, perhaps, reluctantly. Were their families promised the 'placebo'?

Either way, they have participated, to their utter shame and, if you are a believer, to their eternal damnation, in a mass murder so vile and so total that the world has truly never seen anything like it.

Let me reiterate: I simply did not imagine that the deadly nature of these jabs would become not a problem for research to overcome, but their greatest 'asset' to the globalist genocidalists.

Tragically, that is what has happened.

One more thing: in the article referenced below, the authors several times reference both the Covid-19 virus and the SARS COV2 virus. I do not understand the shorthand or why they have chosen to do that, but I anticipate that like all the rest of the deception, the truth will fall out into the open and public space between lies by the would-be killers.

Stay safe. Stay unjabbed and stay away from people who are jabbed to the greatest extent that you can. Consider the jabbed as though they were the diseased. Fortify your natural immune system. Speak out. Tyranny kills. Your outrage can stop it.

When the vaxxed people start dying en mass come this years flu season the CDC and NIH will blame the variants of the covid II as the culprit. This deception will initiate the mandates and round ups of unvaccinated humans. The un-vaccinated will be blamed for current and future spread and deaths. The hysteria and fear will feed the agenda to vaccinate even more hesitants' fueling the exponential extermination protocol put forth by the demonic rulers.

My wife & I have not been jabbed nor do we intend to be. Our daughter has been, due to work requirements, and she wants to visit us over the holidays. My wife's brother & wife have also been jabbed and want us at their place for Christmas. What should we do, not be around anyone in our family who has been jabbed? Is there anything we can suggest that our daughter take to counteract?

This whole fear the vaxxed stuff just makes us look nuts. Out of unprotected sex and other possible blood connections, theres little to no risk, because all they are expelling are neutralized spike proteins.

Don't worry about the shedding.... take vitamin D 5000 iu a day and vit C 1-3g a day. See your daughter....

I agree with ROB. The ONLY safe bet is to keep our immune systems optimal.

If you visit Mike Adams website at Natural News you can find information on what those who've taken the shot can do. Simple things like drinking fennel tea, among other things, can supposedly help. I agree with the other commenters, do all you can to keep your immune systems strong, and don't avoid your own family or "they've" won already. God bless!
